If it makes hunger & unhappiness*

Seidentraum • A World Changing Company

The rise of mass fashion is largely responsible for the destruction of the environment and social conditions in many parts of our world. Seidentraum is committed to the transformation to a textile production that respects nature and man.

We support our partners in India in changing their social situation. The crafting of silk yarns and fabrics takes place with the participation of disadvantaged women's groups in the villages of Jharkhand and we actively help children to attend school.

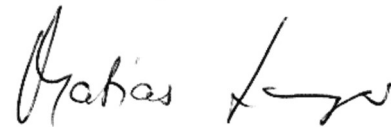

We trade exclusively with Peace Silk. Peace Silk means: The silkworm can complete its metamorphosis and fly as a beautiful butterfly out of the cocoon. No animal suffers from the production of silk clothing and other wonderful textiles. No silkworm dies during the usual drying of the cocoons by hot steam or boiling water.

Our Peace Silk (Ahimsa Silk, non-violent silk) is manufactured in India under strict social and environmental standards and is mostly certified to the Global Organic Textile Standard (GOTS).

We are involved in the transformation of the fashion industry - to long-lasting, sustainable and yet fashionable textiles from artisanal production.

We are committed to changing consumer conscience and the conditions under which their clothing is made. We show the benefits of sustainable, healthy and fair textiles.

In co-operation with the World Changing Academy Schloss Hohenfels (Germany near Lake Constance) we develop textiles for the recovery of humans from refined peat fiber and silk.

Be the change that you wish to see in the world.
